

2025 Conference: Call for Proposals

June 5 & 6, 2025 | Leadership & The Good Life

We are excited to announce that West Chester University's "Life Worth Living" Leadership Hub, in collaboration with Yale's Center for Faith and Culture, is now accepting proposals for the 2025 Leadership and the Good Life Conference. This conference, hosted at West Chester University, will explore the intersection of leadership and human flourishing, welcoming proposals from scholars in leadership, religious studies, philosophy, and related fields.

The stunning campus of West Chester University of Pennsylvania.

We encourage submissions that address how leadership can contribute to the "good life," personal and community well-being, ethical leadership, and the integration of diverse values in today's world. The conference aims to foster interdisciplinary discussions on leadership's role in shaping a flourishing society.

Keynote speaker Dr. Angela Gorrell will share her expertise on leadership, ethics, and well-being. Abstracts (300-500 words) should be submitted via email to ZWOOTEN@wcupa.edu with the subject line: LWL PROPOSAL by March 15, 2025.
